Well, children, it's been a month of beginnings and endings. The official transfer of Deni's 50 shares of stock took place in Wilf Jenkin's office 10:00 AM April 1, 1985. I arrived back at the office around noon fully intending to draw pages 19 and 20 of this issue. Karen, however (with Gerhard as an unindicted co-conspirator), had purchased a bottle of Mumm's extra-dry champagne and three wine glasses. When the last of this bubbly treat had been drained, I felt that it was time for the First Official Act of my Second Administration. The three of us adjourned to Benson's for a six-hour lunch where we consumed (by Karen's reckoning and she's much better with numbers than I am) fifteen dollars worth of food and a hundred and eighty-five dollars worth of alcohol.

I had a mind-boggling week in the Bahamas (and thank you all very much) where I discovered why it is that people take vacations. I kept waiting for someone to tell me it was time to sign autographs and do sketches (I did a sketch of Cerebus for Bev, but that was different).

Four days later, I had an equally mind-boggling weekend in New York City, giving Barry Windsor-Smith Charisma Dog lessons (don't ask) and dragging (with the help of Laurie Sutton) Bill Sienkiewiez and Mike and Sharon Grell out dancing on Sunday night.

Just while I was drawing page fourteen the lady-upon-whom-Jaka-is-based strolled out of my past and into the studio (synchronicity is as synchronicity does). Strangely enough, she's an exotic dancer, although she was only an heiress when I created Jaka -- a case of life imitating art.

And the Countess role-model. Well, she's another story isn't she?

It just goes to prove what I've been saying lately; It's a great life if you let it.

Ger and I are real happy with this issue. I hope you will be, too. After all, I'm having such a great time with all your money.

AARDVARK COMMENT

P.O. BOX 1674, STATION 'C', KITCHENER, ONTARIO N2G 4R2

Dear Dave,

Is Cerebus ever going to get revenge on the people who have tormented him the most? IE: Astoria, Sophia, Henrot-Gutch, Lord Julius, and Weisshaupt. I can't believe Cerebus would let Astoria get away with bossing him around in the "High Society" issues. If I were him, I would stick a knife in her ungrateful breastbone and splash concentrated hydrochloric acid into her eyes. As for Sophia, if Cerebus wants a divorce from her so bad, all he has to do is slap her around until it is she who wants a divorce from him. Leave Henrot-Gutch to me. First, I'll knock her out with a steel pipe and tie her up from the ceiling hanging by one leg. She'll be locked in a room without food or water until she apologizes for her barbaric behavior. Once that is accomplished, she will be rendered unconscious with a comatose drug which will enable me to surround her with a moat containing African scorpions. All that need to be done to Lord Julius is put him in a rubber room. And Weisshaupt... I guess he is reserved for you. Make his punishment horrible, please. He deserves it more than anybody.

I must close for now. Please keep the quality of Cerebus to its normal superior level. Regardless of what I said earlier in this letter about you, I really look forward to seeing you in Charlotte in April

With great respect,

Chris Smith

Do you ever get the feeling Dr. Wertham was right?

★★★★★★★★★★

Dear Dave & The Cerebus Gang:

I'm making this big so you will notice it. In order to see my name in print, I'm going to ask you some questions.

1. Are there any "Cerebus for Dictator" shirts left? I didn't see them advertised in #71.

2. What's going to happen to the letters page if the posties go on strike?

3. What will Cerebus be wearing next Wednesday?

4. Where did I come from?

There is alot more I would like to ask, but (lucky you) I won't. In all seriousness, I would like to request that as Cerebus goes to Marvel (as pretty well everything else eventually does) please don't forget about us, your original fans. I can only hope that you won't go too commercialized with good ole Cerebus. (I love that little Earth-Pig!!!) I'm sure many fans agree with me As you drive to wherever it is you go, in your $80,000.00 Porsche, please, please, please, please don't forget your humble beginnings.

Your friend and fan,

Craig Sisson
(no address available)

1. You'll have one more chance to buy a "Dictator" t-shirt from the next Graphitti ad and then they will be discontinued.

2. I'll make all the letters up as I usually do.

3. What time next Wednesday?

4. I really think you should ask your parents this one. Assuming you have parents.

Actually, the only place worth remembering humble beginnings is behind the wheel of an $80,000 Porsche, so there's no problem there.

Dave,

The other night I dreamt that you and I were discussing the Unique Stories that have appeared in Cerebus. You were paying special praise to the story written and drawn by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. Then you turned into Meadowlark Lemon and we watched a couple of Harlem Globetrotters show their stuff.

Please tell me, Dave, I have to know: Can you really turn into Meadowlark Lemon?

Sincerely,

Kent Featherly
142 Shady Oak Trail,
Charlotte, NC., 28210

Yes, but due to a genetic quirk I have to either turn into Bob Layton or PeeWee Herman first.

★★★★★★★★★★

Dear Dave,

Now that you are, with the new storyline, knocking them dead again (I'd say something about aisles, but I can guess what you'd do with that one) I think I'd better speak up now about the kind of mail you have been getting on the pre-Pope "interregnum" stories. My basic reaction was one of shock that people could follow your concept as far as they had, and still not get the essential elements that make Cerebus unique. Obviously, any story worth 6000+ pages is going to spend a fair number of them exploring characters, organizations, and relationships in ways that have little, if any, connection to traditional funnybook notions of "tight plotting".

Conditioned as I am (can't help it) by 20+ years of just such notions, I found those issues a bit frustrating myself, but it was clear that you were setting up the chessboard (or shuffling the diamondback deck) for one mean game. Besides, what better way to get across Cerebus' growing rage and frustration at his own powerlessness than by giving the readership a taste of those feelings? All in all, those issues were your most daring break with comics tradition since your transformation of Estarcion from a typical Hyperborean hunting-ground to the gigantic interlocking puzzle of people, movements, history, treachery, motivations, etc. that it is now. Which, come to think of it, got a pretty similar response. So before I get back to putting together my party tape (anybody out there got a good song to bridge R.E.M. and Black Flag?). I'd just like to say one thing: C'MON guys/gals, is this or isn't this an Alternative comic book?

Most honourable Dave Sim,

I am the representative of a very small country in the Caribbean. The purpose of this letter is to request the services of a Mr. Cerebus Aardvark for a period of approximately six months. According to our files you are his advisor/manager. I realize that this may have a negative effect on your readers but we can work around these little inconvenience (I bet 100,000 reasons that we can - in small unmarked bills for yourself).

My country, a seemingly insignificant banana republic, is in a state of turmoil. What we need to pull it together is a strong, charismatic (Cerebus #67) pityless (Cerebus #69) leader. Cerebus seems a natural for this position.

In addition to the above, my country can also offer 2 more arrangements. First of all, I have personally hand picked a deformed, flying acrobat midget who will willingly dress in a bunny suit for the six months in order to take Cerebus' place in Canada while he is gone.

Secondly, we will generously provide Cerebus with all the bananas he can eat... as well as banana ale, banana wine and banana liquor.

Don't bother waving your Disgusting Exampleness in my general direction, either. If worse comes to worse, and the country collapses (or is invaded or something) the three of us can, more or less equally, divide up the country's treasury funds. Hey, I just want to make an honest buck just like any other self-respecting, upper crust, bourgeoisie, capitalist scum.

Sincerely yours, etc.

The "very small country in the Caribbean" rep.

John Spankis
1624 Cormorant Street,
Nanaimo, B.C.

This letter is obviously a hoax. The last thing we self-respecting, upper crust, bourgeoisie, capitalist scum want to do is make an honest buck. Nice try.

★★★★★★★★★★

Dear Dave:

Just a short note to let you know what the lead story in the next issue of SENSAWUNDA! will be --- the truth about you.

Yes, after many hours of hard investigation and conference with my agents in Bloomington, I have at last uncovered your secret identity.

When people say you're "Bad to the Bone", Dave, they mean it literally.

You are actually George Thorogood.

The resemblance is too striking to be coincidence. And, let's face it, has anyone ever seen the two of you in the same place at the same time?

I've asked Dan Vado for confirmation of this, but he just smiled oddly and said nothing.

That tore it.

You will, of course, get a free copy of that issue. But can you do me a favor?

Can you get me the Destroyer's autographs?

Ben Adams
1571 Peach Tree Lane,
Yuba City, CA., 95991

One bourbon, one scotch and one beer --- you're right, I even sound like him --- after three packs of unfiltered cigarettes. Otherwise I sound like Cyndi Lauper.

Sorry about the autographs, but the Destroyers never learned how to write.

★★★★★★★★★★

Dave:

I just realized... you can't be George Thorogood! I am!! Jeezus Christ, talk about an identity crisis!

Bewilderedly Yours,

Ben Adams
Same as last time.

Wow, can you get me the Destroyer's autographs?

★★★★★★★★★★

Dear Dave:

Please forgive me for missing almost an entire year of Cerebus, but my alibi is airtight; I was stricken with acute poverty. Nice to see that Cerebus has achieved papal status now, and is using his power against Weisshaupt. Issue 69 was interesting, but I doubt the President is out of the picture completely. I'm sure he's not dead, is he?

Now, on to #70. Oooh, I love that title "Sane as it Ever Was". (You are a Talking Heads fan, aren't you Dave? One of us at last!). Judging from the artwork throughout, especially on the first few pages, I can safely see why you chose to hire Gerhard (I've considered calling him "Gerhard Eisner", howzaboutit?)

Most especially, it was worth the wait to read another unimportant letter from Mike Bannon. This is it, Dave: confession time. I didn't return to Cerebus for the art - great though it may be - or the writing - ditto. Ah, yes. The truth can now rear its ugly-as-sin head: I came back for Mike Bannon!! I'd write to him personally were I not too shy for the direct approach. Just between us - all twenty-thousand and one of us, if this letter of lust is published, the thought of another Mike Bannon letter gives me chills in the most interesting places, and I'll name all of my cat's kittens after him. If he stops his foolishness, I swear I'll go sane.

In the future, I promise not to miss anymore issues. This whole sordid mess is far too interesting to miss out on. Just the same, Dave, don't worry about Native Texans seeing your Disgusting Exampleness. We see so much of that kind of thing all the time. It's the non-natives who might get restless, but they're just outside agitators from Oklahoma, anyway.

Excuse me, I think I've got a hole in my head. Click-click. See you later.

Cynthia B. McGarvie
Dallas, TX., 75219

So Mike Bannon gives you chills in interesting places. A fine thing. Miss a whole year of Cerebus and what's the first thing out of your envelope when you come back? Mike - gah! Bannon gives you chills. In a fit of jealous pique, I chose not to print Mike's most recent letter. And it was a funny one too. I'm also not printing your address. Let the little sleazeball find his own dates.

★★★★★★★★★★

Hey Sim,

There's a couple of robots, from Verdus, looking for you.

John Williams
1412 Butternut,

Male or female?

★★★★★★★★★★

Dear Dave:

Lord Julius commissioned me to design this logo. This is just a sketch. We have BIG marketing deals in the works: bed-spreads, beer commercials and the like. And if those don't work out, we're hoping to get sued either by you or Columbia Pictures.

See you in People's Court,

Marie Mundaca
94 Fifth Avenue,
Brooklyn, NY., 11217

I forwarded a copy of the sketch to the legal department at Columbia and made a downpayment on a hit man. Send me a picture of yourself and we'll see if we can't settle this out of court, if you catch my drift.

★★★★★★★★★★

Dear Dave,

Welcome to the Disgusting Example Hall of Infamy! It's so nice to meet you! You realize your responsibilities are now multiplied many-fold, as D.E. of our times. It is up to you to see that other D.E.'s get their due recognition, live up to their D.E. reputations, and do not shirk their responsibility of setting Disgusting Examples in their chosen field of Disgusting Exampleness.

I, as D.E. of Loose Morals, have kept to my name and personally corrupted numerous pillars of society (there's an interesting penis analogy for Mike Bannon!) including an up-and-coming artist here in the states (oooh, another one!) who shall remain nameless. 'Twas his folks who named me the D.E. and I never even thanked them for setting me free from the standards imposed upon me by society.

By all means, enjoy your status as a D.E., especially D.E. of our times, and remember to keep all those others in line and setting disgusting examples wherever they roam.

Really? A swizzle stick? That must've been a handly trick!

Vicky Y George
44 Fairfield Avenue,
Westfield, MA., 01085

If I'd only known that there were all these nice people in the Hall of Infamy, I would've joined years ago.

★★★★★★★★★★

Dear Dave,

I really enjoyed spending time with you while you were in New York. Maybe we can do it again real soon. Maybe I'll even take off my sunglasses next time.

Hisses,

Connie

Why stop with your sunglasses? (I'm sorry folks, I'm really not this sleazy in person. Just ask any of my fiancees).
